

The SIT Program Centre in Durban, South Africa is located on the 4th floor of the Office Tower of 'The Atrium,' an office complex attached to a small shopping center. It is close to the city center, and the University of KwaZulu-Natal (UKZN- Howard College Campus) is five minutes away. The SIT program site is equipped with high-speed wireless internet. The site includes the program library and a main lecture room that can comfortably seat up to 20 adults. The program site has beautiful, panoramic views of the city skyline, harbor, and the ocean. It is equipped with air conditioning and has a large projection screen, audio and video equipment. In addition to the main classroom there is a smaller shared work and leisure space that may be used for break-out sessions or relaxation between sessions.

Access to the Office Tower is controlled by security personnel; anyone visiting the center must go through security. The center also has a safe where students may store their passports and other valuables. There are several useful amenities within the shopping center which include a gym, grocery stores, retailers, and banks.
